YOU---and the year ahead...

Tradition ordains this season of resolve. Let's keep our resolutions, simple but firm. Ideas have less. If, on a local level, we resolve to make this community a better place in which to live, it may have an effect on making the world of nations a better place in which governments may live.

Start in your own backyard. You figure out what you can do to better the churches, schools and institutions of this place we call our home. We'll start in our own backyard. For the year ahead, this newspaper pledges a program of complete editorial support for any and all efforts at community betterment.

This community is only as strong as we make it. No one outside it cares much what happens to our town. But we care. Let's prove that we care by making that resolution now--to build a better community.

It is in that spirit that the people who publish this paper wish for you --

Happy New Year 1949

57 New Homes, 13 New Business Buildings Built During Year 1948

Building permits totaling $399,530 were issued to build new homes, new businesses, to remodel and repair existing homes and businesses in the City of Statesboro during the year 1948.

A study of the building permit records in the office of James Bland, city engineer, revealed that 57 new homes, totaling $258,500, and ranging in cost from $800 for converting an army barracks into a home, to $18,750.

Thirteen new business buildings were erected, or are in the process of completion, during the year totaling $105,600, ranging from $500 to $25,000. The new business buildings include the Hobson DuBois Dry Cleaning plant, the J. B. Altman auto sales and service building on North Main street, the Denmark Candy Company building on North Zetterow, the Statesboro Truck and Tractor Company building on East Vine street, the brick wing being added to the J. P. Williams home on South Main street for converting the house and wing into a tourist hotel, and the W. W. Woodcock Oldsmobile show room, sales and service building on Savannah avenue.

Permits were issued totaling $20,000 for remodeling and repair of homes; $7,500 for remodeling and repair of business buildings; $4,980 for making miscellaneous changes, moving, tearing down buildings, etc.

The total money spent on building in Statesboro is more than the $399,530 revealed on the permit books, since the figures used in issuing permits is always considerably lower than the final and actual cost of construction. It is believed that the actual figure would run well over $750,000.

Following his graduation in August, 1948, he returned to the university to take special courses in Federal Income Tax Law. He was admitted to the bar in Athens after passing the State bar examination in July of 1948.

He is the grandson of the late C. H. Anderson and the late J. N. Atkins. His wife is a daughter of T. F. Lawrence, Atlanta, and attended Wesleyan Conservatory and graduated from the University of Georgia.

Dr. Neil Speaks At Woman's Club

Dr. Ronald Neil was the guest speaker at the December meeting of the Statesboro Woman's Club. He spoke on Prayer and World Peace.

Dr. Neil said: "It is particularly fitting that we meditate on, and that we think about, prayer and peace at this season of the year. Mankind is worried, mankind is concerned, mankind is perhaps despairing when he stops to think of world conditions."

"Here in America we are fortunate. None of us has to rebuild a home destroyed by bombs; none of us has a memory of waking to an air raid siren, or a desperate fear, wondering where the next bomb will fall; but millions of others are homeless, hungry and destitute. And over all of us hangs the dark cloud, the dark fear, the black apprehension of yet another war."

Dr. Neil read a prayer used by the late President Roosevelt at the entrance of the U. S. into World War II. The president closed his radio address to the American people with this prayer: "Almighty God, who hast given us this good land for our heritage, we humbly beseech Thee that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will."

A musical program was presented under the direction of Mrs. Waldo Floyd. A girl's chorus made up of Misses Betty Brannen, Barbara Ann Brannen, Peggy Burke, Lucille Pusey, Betty Sherman, Kitty Deal, Paty Odell, Virginia Lee Floyd and Barbara Ann Jones sang three numbers.

Miss Marie Wood, Mrs. W. S. Hauser, and Mrs. Floyd sang the French carol, "Cantique Noel," accompanied by Mrs. Roger Holland.

Christmas Music By Bach, Handel

For a great many people the music of Bach and Handel make difficult listening until Christmas comes around. Then, suddenly, everybody starts singing and humming tunes by the two old masters.

The reason for this is that both Bach and Handel were church musicians. One of their tasks was to compose songs for church congregations to sing. They proved themselves masters of beautiful, easily followed melodies in their Christmas music. Our most famous Christmas carols and songs came from Bach and Handel.

"How Brightly Beams the Morning Star" was composed by Bach and his "Christmas Oratorio" contains the themes of several other popular chorales.

In almost every town and village in America the Christmas church choir will render at least a portion of George Frederick Handel's "Messiah." When cantatas sing "Joy to the World" they'll be singing part of the "Messiah" too, for that carol comes from themes found in the great oratorio. Handel also composed the musical theme of "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks."

It is a strange fact, but both Bach and Handel were born in 1685, lived for many years within thirty miles of each other, and never met. Yet today, the Christmas music they wrote is sung by men, women and children in countless churches of many faiths all over the world.

Pagan Rites Basis Of Many Customs

Strange as it may seem, most American Christmas customs stem largely from Pagan rites practiced long before the birth of Christ.

The custom of exchanging gifts is one of the few that springs from the Christian era. Christmas carols, bonfires and Yule logs arise from the heathen festivals observing the winter solstice, December 21, when the days begin to lengthen. That was a time of great rejoicing for ancient sun worshippers who built bonfires to give strength to the "winter sun-god."

The Christian Romans ornamented their homes with green boughs and flowers for the Feast of Saturnalia which began December 19. Druids gathered mistletoe for that season, while ancient Saxons used holly ivy and holly. Modern mistletoe and holly wreaths come from those people.

Christmas trees, too, spring from the ancient German days when Germanic tribes made sacrifices to the sacred oak tree of Odin. When the missionary St. Boniface traveled to Germany in the Eighth Century and saw these celebrations he persuaded the natives to substitute a fir tree for the oak and to adorn it in a tribute to the Christ Child.

During the Middle Ages the entire Christmas season was celebrated in equal fervor with that now shown on Christmas day. In some lands the celebration lasted from December 24 to January 6--Twelfth Night--and in others from December 21 to February 2. By the year 1664, Christmas in England had become such a wild orgy that the Puritans forbade its celebration by law.

Much Family Fun In Group Games

"Make it a real family Christmas this year by having Santa pack a few hobby supplies or games into his pack that the whole family can enjoy together." This suggestion comes from E. H. Register, a recreation specialist at the University of Illinois.

There are many hobbies that can help build companionship between parents and children. Mothers and daughters like jewelry construction and tapestry weaving. Dad and Junior go in for model making--airplanes, boats, trains and other items of special interest to the male population.

Everyone enjoys operating a printing press. Small presses turn out newspapers that have a real professional look. Shellcraft and woodburning are hobbies that produce genuinely useful articles. For family fun, rubber-tipped darts, indoor plastic basketball and marble games are excellent.

"Christmas is a time of 'goethen-erics,'" says Register. "It's a capital one on the situation by starting a game or hobby that will encourage the same type of companionship the year around."

Santa Pictured By Thomas Nast

Thomas Nast the famous cartoonist who created our conception of Uncle Sam, the Republican elephant and the Democratic donkey, is also credited with giving America its first modern pictorialization of Santa Claus.

Nast first sketched his notion of Santa Claus in 1873. This Santa was a rollicking, chubby old man smoking a pipe and dressed in what looked like a night shirt with fur collar and cuffs. Since that day he has grown taller and rounder, has developed a full white beard and mustache and has acquired the traditional red suit bordered in ermine.

It's a real pleasure to extend these greetings to you. HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

1949—the NEW YEAR . . . something living.
1949—the OLD YEAR . . . something dead.
The New Year is born.

Humbly, fearfully, we sink on our knees, and slowly, in answer to our prayers, comes back something of the old faith of our childhood, and we realize that we are granted one more New Year's Day on which to "begin again"—not in our childish way, with utter disregard of the past—but trustingly, patiently, knowing that we must ever carry with us our past, and rejoicing that, with God's help, we may make the future better because of the past.

Then, as we rise from our knees, we look bravely forward to the veiled figure that stands at our threshold; we know nothing of what it brings—we know only that it is God's new year. May He it to us all;—Golden Rule.

1948 was good to Statesboro and Bulloch County. 1949 can be as good, and better. Let us resolve to make it so.

Hello, World! Young Mr. 1949 once again broadcasts his tidings of a new day aborning to a worn and weary world. Another year; another and much brighter page!

For you and yours, we reiterate his hope that the New Year will prove better and more fruitful than the old. May new faith and new courage be yours as you turn a new page in the journey through life, and may all your wishes be fulfilled!

The Almanac Says the Weather This Week On . . .
TODAY, THURSDAY, December 30, will be cloudy and cold.
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 31, will be cloudy and cold.
SATURDAY, JANUARY 1, 1949, will be cold.
SUNDAY, JANUARY 2, will still be cold.
MONDAY, JANUARY 3, will still be cold.
TUESDAY, JANUARY 4, will be a little warmer.
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 5, will be somewhat colder.

But Don't Blame Us If the Almanac is Wrong . . .

BUILD thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low-vaulted past;
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea.
—O. W. HOLMES.

Henry Lanier and his crew have no illusions about the traditional Christmas tree—they see it from the "after" side. For it is their lot to collect all Christmas trees after they have been relegated to the trash pile. Once a perfectly beautiful tree, bright with scores of lights, scintillating icicles, colorful glass balls, tinsel, with dozens of gaily wrapped packages surrounding the base, it is now a dried-up tree, standing up beside the garbage can—there for the trash collectors to take it to the city trash dump.

Parents with Santa-Claus-size children should see to it that the Christmas tree is disposed of, so that the children do not see it in its post-Christmas desolation, stripped of all its seasonal glory. For it must be a shock to a sensitive child to see that which represents the happiest time of his year go along with the kitchen and house waste. Of course, some kids take it in their stride. "Aw, heck, what's a Christmas tree? Just some tree with some trimmings and lights."—And they feel no sorrow in seeing it back of the house, ready for the trash truck.

But there are kids to whom the Christmas tree is all that time has made it . . . something beautiful, representing the most wonderful time of the year. We believe that Christmas trees in Statesboro are put up and decorated earlier than in other communities in this section. We were told by a friend from the East that it is a custom in their home to put up the tree as late as Christmas Eve, and that it goes out as soon as Christmas is over. Trees will remain up until New Year's Eve. Some hold the superstition that it is unlucky to allow a tree to remain up after the New Year. But there is something about them. Statesboro people ride around the city during the pre-Christmas weeks, enjoying the trees as they shine through the windows. And now it's the New Year—and time to begin thinking about

ANNUAL FARM BUREAU MEETING IN LATE SPRING

The Bulloch County Farm Bureau's annual meeting will be held later in the spring rather than on the usual date, R. P. Mikell, president, announces. Governor Herman Talmadge has accepted an invitation to speak at the meeting, but cannot be with the group until after the legislative adjourns, Mr. Mikell stated.

A date satisfactory to Governor Talmadge, H. L. Wingate, president of the Georgia Farm Bureau, and others involved will be worked out in the near future. Mr. Mikell expects the date for the 1949 annual meeting to be around the latter part of March. CECIL KENNEDY TO HEAD REGISTER FARM BUREAU
Cecil Kennedy will again serve as president of the Register Farm Bureau, along with other hold-over officers.

With the organization moving along favorably, the group voted to retain the 1948 officers for 1949.

Cecil Anderson is vice president.

Of course, there are those who are saving that last fling for tomorrow night—just one more before settling down to routine living for another eleven months and three weeks.

And so, we, sitting in Our Uneasy Chair, say to you:

HOLIDAY BRIEFS: Mary and Emmitt Atkins are "going to the dogs," or perhaps I should say "the dog races." Also horse races, which will be a part of the spectacular program which is being staged at Miami with the Orange Bowl football game as the high point.

Others who will be on hand when the Georgia Bull Dogs clash with the Texas Long Horns are Lena Belle Human and Maxann Foy. Albert and Lingo Brunnen, Mulder and Allen Stockdale, Chatham and Hazel Alderman, and Tommy and Jimmy Thomason—and, for all we know, Margaret and Lehman Franklin will be among those in the Orange Bowl. At least, Margaret was ready in case Lehman decided at the last minute to go. Waldo Floyd Jr. attended the DeSoto Hotel.

WILLIE COBB was so elated over having all of her friends at her Statesboro home that she went all-out in her efforts to get the prettiest tree and the loveliest decorations possible. And those who have been in the home know how wonderfully she succeeded. Probably such an exquisite setting combined with the fact that Edwin Groover Jr., is spending the holidays at home inspired Mary Virginia Hill and Helen Rowse to entertain with open house in the afternoon of Christmas Day. About forty of their friends were invited. Camellias, poinsettias, and red candles were used throughout the home. The table in the dining room with a copy of old salt rope candle, huge and red, embedded in red berries, was lovely. Jack Averitt played Christmas music and all the young people joined in singing favorite selections.

THE BETA THETA PHIS had a Christmas party at the Country Club Wednesday night. On Tuesday night the Rhythm Club held their annual Christmas dance at Forest Heights Country Club. It was an unusually brilliant affair, with many out-of-town guests.

THE HEARTS HIGH CLUB met with Sara Field and Julian Hodges Thursday evening for a Dutch supper. All the members were present. They were happy to have Bobbie Gates and Mary Sue Atkins, former members with them. According to reports they feasted on shrimp, ham, all sorts of salads, candies, cookies, sandwiches, etc. Gifts were exchanged and Christmas carols sung.

ANOTHER GROUP of young socialites had a merry party on Christmas Eve at the E. L. Atkins home, with Leola Atkins and Parrish Blitch combining their talents as hosts. Twelve couples enjoyed the occasion, with all sorts of refreshments served buffet style.

ENNIS CAIL, back home from Korea, is delighting his friends with the same dry wit that made him so popular at high school. We were amused by the T.E.T. list when we saw our reporter had spelled the name "Innis Kail."

THOSE FROM STATESBORO attending a tea dance at the Oglethorpe Club honoring Nancy Daniel, of Savannah, were Virginia Lee Floyd, Ann Waters, Paul Womack, Daniel Blitch, Jimmy Blitch and Charles Sims. Virginia Lee and Ann were in the receiving line.

WAS I HORRIFIED when I read the account of the Pretorius-Darley wedding to discover that in the hurry and bustle of a Christmas edition the lovely tiara-haired bride got lost? It has often been lamented that the groom at a wedding was ignored by the society reporter, but you can imagine leaving out a bride and one so radiantly beautiful as was Pat? Her pearl-toned bridal satin dress made along classic lines with a very full skirt was a perfect design for her lovely veil of lace from the Isle of Ru-gen, and caught to a tiara of matching lace. Her lovely pearls, Ray's gift, her "something blue" was garters, her "something white" was a bouquet of carnations showered with white satin and centered with an orchid—all of this left out as penciled notes were transcribed too rapidly on a typewriter. Anyway, Pat, wasn't upset—she is marketing, planning and preparing meals, and just as adorable in casual frocks as she was at the wedding, and happy as a lark. Now, why should I express it like that? She's happy as a BRIDE.

A B.C.F.B. YARN: This yarn having to do with the delegation of members of the Bulloch County Farm Bureau which attended the national meeting in Atlantic City has just reached me. According to Bob Mikell, a group of our folks were boarding a sightseeing bus and the fare was 50 cents. But each of the prosperous farmers handed a $10 bill to the driver, who observed: "All you people from the South come up here with ten dollar bills and the Ten Commandments, and you haven't broken either of them."

CHARLOTTE LANE probably saved the family records that she informed her parents that Santa Claus was burning up. Curtis and Billy reassured her with the usual stock reply that Santa had gone on back to the North Pole, was resting, etc. . . . But Charlotte was distressed and insisted that Santa really was on fire. To humor her, they went to the living room and discovered that a wax Santa Claus had toppled from his place on the mantel into the gas heater, and a blaze was becoming dangerous.

WISHING YOU'LL A HAPPY NEW YEAR, I am

JANE.

To All . . . Happy New Year
Christmas has come and gone, but the tree in the living room still looks perky. Beth and I came up to Tomaston Friday afternoon and John came home for a Happy New Year. If you use the correct ingredients and the correct amounts, you should be successful and content. . . .

There's no telling what 1949 will hold for us, but here's a recipe from an unknown cook for a Happy New Year. If you use the correct ingredients and the correct amounts, you should be successful and content. . . .

Take twelve fine, fill-grown months. Cleanse them completely from hate, rancor and jealousy. Pick off all specks of pettiness and littleness—in short, see that these months are freed from all the past—have them as fresh and clean as when they first came from the great storehouse of time.

Cut these months into thirty or thirty-one equal parts. This batch will keep for just one year. Do not attempt to make up the whole batch at one time (so many people spoil the entire lot this way), but prepare one day at a time as follows: . . .

"Into each day put 20 parts of faith, 20 of courage, 20 of work (some people omit this ingredient) and spoil the flavor completely." 20 parts of rest (leaving this out is like leaving the oil out of the salad—don't do it), 10 parts of prayer, 10 parts of meditation, and one well-selected resolution.

"Then put in about a teaspoon of good spirits, a dash of fun, a pinch of jolly, a jigger of laughter, a sprinkling of play, and a leaping cupful of good humor."
Cook thoroughly in a fervent

The home was beautifully decorated throughout for the Yuletide. The dining table was overlaid with white, with wide red satin ribbon extending lengthwise and crossed in the center, resembling the wrapping of a Christmas package. Tray.

Fred Darley served as his brother's best man and usher were George Brannen, Dent Newton and John Newton.

Miss Lois Stockdale was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Misses Barbara Jean Brown, Mrs. Fred Darley and Mrs. Roy Arrington, of Waynesboro.

The bride was dressed in a flower-shoulder duchess yokes, basque waists and their bouffant skirts posed over hoops caught up at intervals with rosebuds. Halo sweetheart hats in material matching their frocks completed their costumes. Their flowers were colonial nosegays combining pastel shades. Miss Stockdale wore robin's egg blue. Mrs. Darley American Beauty. Mrs. Roy Arrington pastel green, and Miss Brown dusty rose. The flower girls, Dale Donnelly, of Savannah, and Tina Bedgood, of Vidalia, wore white satin dresses, replicas of the bride's dress.

The bride, entering with her father, by whom she was given in marriage, was radiantly beautiful in her white duchess satin gown fastened along lines of regal simplicity. The fitted bodice featured a yoke of imported illusion with soft folds giving an off-the-shoulder effect. The fitted slaves ended in points over the hands and the full skirt formed a cathedral length train. Her finger tip veil of tulle de Rugin and illusion fell from a tiara of the same rare lace. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of white carnations showered with white satin ribbon and centered with a purple orchid.

Elaborate Reception Following the ceremony a reception was held. Mrs. Preterorius chose for her daughter's wedding an elephant grey crepe model featuring sculptured lines. Her shoulder corsage was an orchid. Mrs. Darley wore an electric blue crepe with sequin designs. Her flowers were pink carnations.

Mrs. Lester Martin and Mrs. J. B. Averitt greeted the guests. Mrs. Evelyn Wendel kept the bride's book. Others assisting were Mrs. Irving Brannen, Mrs. Frank Hodges, Mrs. Max DeRieux, and Mrs. T. E. Rushing.

The bride's table was overlaid with a Venetian lace banquet cloth and had for its central decoration the beautifully embossed all-white, three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Other decorations were seven-branched Shofar candelabra holding white cathedral tapers. The bride's classmates served dainty refreshments and Mrs. Virgil Lee Hilliard and Mrs. Inman Foy served coffee.

Mrs. Waldo Floyd and Mrs. Emma Kelly furnished music for the guests.

After a wedding trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Darley will make their home on Savannah avenue. Mr. Darley is associated with his father in business.

J.T.J.S. and T.E.T.S. SET SOCIAL PACE

Lights burned all night Wednesday at the Country Club at a party which started with a banquet at 9:30 and ended, with breakfast at 5:30. These marathon holiday celebrations were members both old and new of the J.T.J.S. and T.E.T.S. high school social clubs.

The club, brilliant with a huge Christmas tree strung with lights and vari-colored crystal balls, dominated the scene.

Daniel Blitch, T.E.T.S. president, welcomed the guests and Emily Williams responded for the J.T.J.S.'s.

A movie, "Spring Parade," (through the courtesy of Lehman Franklin) followed the banquet.

CULTIVATE PULPWOOD

It's the Double-Pay Crop!

Why? Because, by thinning your timber tract for pulpwood, you not only have an immediate cash return, but you will greatly increase the rate at which the remaining trees will develop into repeat cash crops.

Only thirteen eight-inch trees are required for a cord of pulpwood. No other forest crop will provide you with so much return for so little effort...in so short a time.

Trees provide income not only for those who grow and harvest them but for many of your neighbors, as well. At the Union Bag plant in Savannah 4,700 people are employed making pulpwood into finished kraft paper, bags and boxes. Each of them, on the average, supports three other persons in the family and contributes to the earnings of thousands of others employed in business, services and professional activities.

The growth and intelligent harvesting of trees and their conversion into finished products add up to greater prosperity for all of us.

Georgia 4-H's Win Special Recognition

SUPERIOR records in 1948 National 4-H Soil Conservation, Frozen Foods, Tractor Maintenance and Dairy Production programs, won four Georgia club members special recognition. The winners and brief outlines of their records follow:

Roddy Parkman, 16, of Doerun, has been named sectional winner as a result of his outstanding achievements in the 1948 National 4-H Soil Conservation program. Roddy put into practice such soil saving and building operations as making permanent pastures to hold the soil, terracing because of the steepness of the land, seeding outlets and water channels, and building a one-acre pond which was fertilized and stocked with fish. During six years of 4-H work, Roddy has completed 44 projects, has been leader, president, vice-president and secretary of his club, and is now president of the county council. In recognition of his 4-H achievements, Roddy has been awarded an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, provided by Firestone.

Hazel Creasy, 16, of Brooklet, has won State 4-H honors for foodstuffs during the two years in this project and gave 15 demonstrations. For these 4-H achievements International Harvester has provided Hazel with a $50.00 U. S. Savings Bond.

Arlie Harnage, 18, of Nashville, reaps double benefits from his participation in the 1948 National 4-H Tractor Maintenance program in which he learned how to better care for and operate a farm tractor, thus making him a more efficient young farmer. As a result he has been named State winner in the 4-H program. His report shows that the substitution of a tractor for mules on his father's farm enabled them to double the acreage in cultivation and still have "plenty of leisure time." During his eight years in 4-H he has completed 33 projects. He is president and leader of his local club. To recognize his many achievements, American Oil Company has provided Arlie an educational trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago.

Bobby G. McKissick, 20, of Jersey has been named a sectional 4-H winner as a result of his outstanding achievements in the National 4-H Dairy Production awards program. During ten years in club work, Bobby completed ten dairy projects and developed a herd of 82 Jersey and Holstein dairy cattle. He also has learned much about judging and showing dairy cattle as proven by his numerous blue ribbons and other high placings won at the District Project Achievement Meeting, Parish Show and National Dairy Show. Bobby is vice-president of the Walton County Dairy Association. In recognition of his achievements in dairy production, he was awarded an all-expense trip to the 1948 National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, provided by the Kraft Foods Company.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

"Playhouse" Holds Closing Exercises For Christmas

"Miss Mattie's Playhouse" held closing exercises for the Christmas holidays Friday morning, December 17.

The main part of the program was a dramatization, in appropriate costume, of the birth of Christ given by the children, as Miss Mattie told of His birth at Bethlehem and the stories of the shepherds and wise men.

Sandra Underwood took the part of Mary, and Kenan Kern the part of Joseph.

Jimmy Searce, Kenneth Wilder and Donnie Conner were the shepherds. Carroll Clements, Wayne Parris and Bob Brown were the wise men. Bebee Beasley was the announcing angel.

The dramatization closed with a tableau of Mary and Joseph at the manger and the shepherds and wise men with their gifts, kneeling there in worship while "Away In a Manger" and "Silent Night" were sung by the children.

Following this religious feature the lights of the Christmas tree were lighted and the children enjoyed singing several Santa Claus songs.

After receiving gifts from their teacher and from each other, the little ones were wide-eyed from a surprise visit from "Bud"—or

NEVILS HOME DEM. CLUB

The Nevils Home Demonstration Club made the December meeting a Christmas party. Miss Maude White, Miss Leila White and Miss Lucile White and Miss Jackie Robbins were hostesses.

Following the business meeting, led by Mrs. Rufus Brannen, Miss Irma Spears, home demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on Christmas recreation.

The Christmas tree was prepared by Mrs. Cox and members of the home economics department.

After the meeting, ambrosia and fruitcake were served, and gifts were drawn from the

"Mr. Bud", as they affectionately called him. He presented each with a peppermint walking cane about eighteen inches long.

Rheumatism

In a 48 page booklet, a committee of 12 of the nation's leading doctors have issued a complete report of years of research on rheumatism and arthritis.

From their findings a formula called Ru-Tel was then tested by physicians and clinics and has achieved remarkable results in relieving the pains of rheumatism, arthritis, backache and neuritis. Ru-Tel Tablets are pleasant to take, do not upset the stomach—give quick soothing relief, sometimes overnight. Now Ru-Tel Tablets are available through all druggists.
